

FRONT MATTER CHECKLIST

1. The front matter of the project paper is actually the last part of the project paper to be written.
2. Turabian (8th edition) guidance for the front matter is found in section A.2.1, pages 375-389. That is our final authority.
3. The pages of the front matter are either unnumbered or numbered with Roman Numerals as directed by Turabian. Page “1” is the first page of chapter one.
4. Front matter elements requiring separate pages include the following items in this consecutive order:
  - Reader’s Signature page (provided by DMin Office)
  - Title page
  - Copyright page
  - Dedication page
  - Table of Contents
  - Acknowledgements
  - Abstract
  - List of Abbreviations (if needed)
  - List of Illustrations (if needed)
  - Introduction
5. You may choose to use 14 point font on the title page –but not larger. Bold or unbold – your choice; But all caps. Observe Turabian spacing.
6. The first item on the Table of Contents will be Acknowledgements. Follow Turabian on the spacing of the elements of the table of contents.
