Living in Washington DC

Rates at a Glance:

One Bedroom at Wesley: $ 5,121 per semester

Single Occupancy in New Residence Hall: $5,102 per semester

Double Occupancy in New Residence Hall: $4,352 per semester

Average one bedroom in Washington DC: $8,465 per semester
($1,881 per month)

Helpful Tips:

If you want to live off campus, consider having a roommate or renting a basement apartment or room. This may offset the high cost of living

Be careful when consulting rental sites. Deals may be found, but so may scams. If it looks too good to be true, it probably is. Do your research! For information on how to spot a scam, visit this website:
<https://www.rentjungle.com/about/scams/>

Consider living outside of Washington DC, in Virginia or Maryland (known as the DMV area); the rent may be less expensive. If this sounds like a desirable option, keep in mind transportation: costs and time. Commuting into the district can be a long and costly process (whether or not you have a car).

Local Churches

Helpful Tip:

This is only a sample of the vast number of churches in the city.

If you do not see your denomination on the map, please rest assured that it does exist! Contact the place of worship's website for location and service information.
